

2011 CONSERVATION DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOP:

WHAT ARE THE GAPS IN OUR KNOWLEDGE
AND HOW DO WE MOVE FORWARD?

SAVE THE DATE:
MAY 26

GOAL: To better understand how practitioners view Conservation Development and to discuss what they need to know to be more effective and engaged in their practice of conservation and/or development.

WHEN: May 26th, 2011 from 9 am to 4:30 pm

WHERE: School of Global Environmental Sustainability
Colorado State University
Fort Collins, Colorado

WHO: Invited practitioners include:

- o Land use planners,
- o Planning organizations,
- o Open space organizations,
- o Local, state, and national land trusts,
- o Conservation organizations,
- o Development companies,
- o Development certification organizations,
- o Research institutes.

COST: Attendance is free and travel funds (including lodging and mileage reimbursement) are available.

RSVP: Please RSVP by April 21 to Lindsay Ex at Lindsay.Ex@colostate.edu or 435.757.6351.

ORGANIZING COMMITTEE:

Liba Pejchar	Sarah Reed	Lindsay Ex
R. Patrick Bixler	Stephanie Gripne	Elizabeth Hammen
Richard Knight	Steve Laposa	Jeff Milder
Miranda Mockrin	DeAna Nasseth	Andy Seidl
Kelly Spokus	Dave Theobald	George Wallace

WHAT IS CONSERVATION DEVELOPMENT?

A project that combines land protection and land development while providing functional protection for natural resources.

Learn more about the workshop at our website:
cd.colostate.edu

2011 CONSERVATION DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOP: DRAFT AGENDA

9:00AM-10:15AM: INTRODUCTION AND GOALS

Welcome and Introductions

Introduction to Conservation Development

- i. Definitions and trends
- ii. Land use regulations and incentives
- iii. Literature review of social, economic, and ecological dimensions of residential land development

Goals of Workshop

- i. Discussion/revision of goals

- 15 minute break (coffee and cookies) -

10:30AM-12:00PM: PRACTITIONER PERSPECTIVES

Panel-based presentation and discussions by CD practitioners

Key topics: opportunities and challenges from developer, planner, land steward, advocate, and research perspectives

- 12:00pm-1:00pm – Catered Lunch -

1:00PM-2:00PM: COLORADO CASE STUDY

Presentation of the preliminary results of the case study of conservation development projects in Colorado, including more than 400 projects in nearly twenty Colorado counties. Time will be reserved for feedback and to develop next steps to guide the analysis and communication of the case study data.

2:00-3:00PM: DEVELOPING AN ACTION AGENDA

Setting an action agenda for working group and working group partners

3:00-4:30PM: OPTIONAL FIELD TRIP

We'll embark from campus on a field trip to a local conservation development project. We'll conclude the field trip with a social gathering (location TBD).

WANT TO LEARN MORE?

cd.colostate.edu

How Do I RSVP?

Contact Lindsay Ex
to RSVP no later than April 21!

WORKSHOP SPONSORS:

